PROJECT BACKGROUND AND OBJECTIVES

The Governments of Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, and the United States as well as the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation are seeking an organization to be the Secretariat of the AgResults Initiative (for further details, see the AgResults website).

The Secretariat will mainly:

- Oversee administration of innovative pilot programs designed to pay for results rather than inputs (“pull mechanisms”\(^1\)), aimed at improving agricultural productivity of the world’s poorest smallholders; and

- Execute an inclusive, creative, efficient process for sourcing new such pilot programs, some of which will reward the creation of specific game-changing new agricultural technologies, while others will focus on rewarding smallholder adoption of existing technologies.

The high-profile initiative was launched at the last G20 meeting in Mexico by Prime Ministers Harper, Cameron and Gillard as well as the President of the World Bank, and currently has over $100 million of commitments in funding. Cutting-edge agencies, organizations and firms focused on poverty reduction and improving agricultural productivity are encouraged to apply. Consortia, which bring together experience in careful project oversight and administration as well as innovative project sourcing, are welcome.

AgResults has two equal primary objectives: (1) to overcome market failures impeding the establishment of sustainable markets for developmentally beneficial agricultural innovations, by offering results-based economic incentives (“pull” financing) to participants to develop and ensure the uptake of new agricultural technologies; and (2) to test, in this context, the effectiveness and efficiency of pull financing by comparison with alternative approaches to supporting the development and uptake of agricultural technologies.

The Secretariat will play a central coordinating and implementation role for the Initiative, overseeing the development of new pilot proposals to be recommended for approval by the \(^1\) Pull mechanisms address market failures in innovation by stimulating demand for new technologies. Unlike traditional “push mechanisms”, which seek to stimulate the supply of new technologies by providing funding ex ante, pull mechanisms provide incentives for the private sector to develop and market new technologies by providing ex post payments triggered by results.

Steering Committee, developing, entering into and administering agreements with the Pilot Managers and Award Recipients to foster progress and quality of results and making and administering agreements with Verifiers who will certify the achievement of target outcomes. The Secretariat will give direction to the Trustee for financial support of the initiative and disbursement of results-triggered payments, as well as developing, entering into and administering agreements with the External Impact Evaluator for the assessment of individual pilot proposals and the initiative itself. The Secretariat will also support and facilitate meetings of the Steering Committee. (Defined terms are described at the end of these Terms of Reference.)

   a. contracting Pilot Managers and Verifiers for each approved pilot;
   b. contracting with award recipients for the delivery of payment from the Trust Fund post achievement of their results;

   a. coordinate information required for the independent evaluator’s reviews;
   b. capture and incorporate lessons learned into new pilot designs.

6. Organizing and administering Steering Committee meetings, preparing supporting documents, and responding to Steering Committee inquiries.

7. Developing appropriate communication platforms:
   a. Internally, by providing information to entities like the Trustee and Independent Evaluator;
   b. Externally, by communicating to interested parties, including through a Secretariat housed AgResults website, in coordination with internal stakeholders.

Functions may be outsourced or run by different entities of a consortium secretariat, which should be referenced in Expressions of Interest. In any multi-party proposal, one primary entity will be responsible for managing/subcontracting these arrangements/entities.
