

Globalization, Wages, and the Quality of Jobs

Five Country Studies

Edited by Raymond Robertson, Drusilla Brown, Gaelle Pierre, and Maria Laura Sanchez-Puerta

This new book provides a comprehensive literature review and a framework of analysis of globalization and working conditions in developing countries and applies this framework to five countries: Cambodia, El Salvador, Honduras, Indonesia, and Madagascar. In particular, it presents the experiences of these low-income countries and suggests that their working conditions have improved in the sectors exposed to globalization. However, it also highlights concerns about the sustainability of these improvements and the uncertainty of the impacts in the rest of the economy.

CHAIR: Arup Banerji
*Director for Social Protection and Labor
Human Development Network
World Bank*

DISCUSSANTS: Kimberly Elliott
*Senior Fellow
Center for Global Development*

AUTHORS: Raymond Robertson
*Professor of Economics
Department of Economics
Macalester College*

David Kaplan
*Labor Economist
Finance & Private Sector Development
World Bank*

Drusilla Brown
*Associate Professor of Economics
Economics Department
Tufts University*

Wednesday
October 14, 2009
3:00-4:30 PM
Refreshments will be served

AUDITORIUM J1-050
World Bank J Building
18 Street and Pennsylvania
RSVP infoshopevents@worldbank.org