

Self-Enforcing Trade

Developing Countries and WTO Dispute Settlement

By Chad P. Bown

This book examines challenges and costs of developing countries using the WTO's dispute settlement system, a process that is required for them to self-enforce their exporters' access to foreign markets. It reviews the WTO's extended litigation process, highlighting areas countries have to master, including international economics, law, and politics. Finally, the book assesses recent efforts to help countries overcome these hurdles and proposes a solution to some of the largest obstacles: lack of information, monitoring, and surveillance.
