

Youth-to-Youth Community Presents:
Where the Water Meets the Sky
A Documentary Narrated by Morgan Freeman

This story focuses on a group of women in northern Zambia who are given an opportunity to learn how to make a film and to speak out about their lives and challenge the local traditions which have, until now, kept them silent. Produced in partnership with Camfed, all funds raised through the film will support Camfed's work to educate girls and invest in economic and leadership opportunities for young women in Africa.
