World Bank Country Study Reports are among the many reports originally prepared for internal use as part of the continuing analysis by the Bank of the economic and related conditions of its developing member countries and of its dialogues with the governments. Some of the reports are published in this series with the least possible delay of the use of the governments and the academic, business and financial, and development communities. The typescript of this paper therefore has not been prepared in accordance with the procedures appropriate to formal printed texts, and the World Bank accepts no responsibility for errors. Some sources cited in this paper may be informal documents that are not readily available.

Volume III of this report was prepared by a team managed by Sofia Bettencourt, consisting of John Virdin (coastal management), Gert van Santen (tuna management), Philipp Müller and David Freestone (tuna management and seabed mining), Garry Preston (socio-economic importance), Cecilia Belita and Cynthia Dharmajaya (editorial oversight), and Bruce Harris (institutional issues and community participation). The authors are very grateful to the South Pacific Geoscience Commission (SOPAC) and in particular to Alfred Simpson, Helena McLeod, Kazuhiro Kojima and Jackson Lum for their contribution on seabed mining. The Forum Fisheries Agency (FFA), in particular Ian Cartwright, provided valuable support to the discussion of tuna management. The coastal management section drew on the results of a 1998/99 survey of 31 coastal communities in the Pacific carried out by Robert Gillett, Esaroma Ledua, Noah Idechong, Foua Toloa, Michelle Lam, and Taiamoni Pifeliti (World Bank 2000a). Grimur Valdimarssen, Thomas Tarp, Robert Gillett, Meryl Williams, and Tony Lewis reviewed the findings on tuna management. The authors are also grateful to Ian Cartwright, Victorio U'herbelau, Robert Gillett, Johnny Kirata, Alfred Simpson, Russell Howorth, Aliti Vunisea, Bill Aalbersberg, Paul Dalzell, Tim Adams, Charles Kick, Peter Wright, Joe Reti, and Kathy Fry for their comments and advice on various parts of this report. Background studies to this report are included in References.

This volume is part of a four-volume Regional Economic Report prepared by Laurence Dunn, Stuart Whitehead, Sofia Bettencourt, Bruce Harris, Anthony Hughes, Vivek Suri, John Virdin, Cecilia Belita, David Freestone, Philipp Müller, Gert van Santen and Cynthia Dharmajaya. Natalie Meyenn, Danielle Tronchet, Peter Osei and Maria MacDonald provided importance advice and support. Barbara Karni assisted in editing the report, and Fatu Tauafiafi contributed the cover photo design and concept.

Peer reviewers included Iosefa Maiava (Forum Secretariat), Sawenaca Siwatibau (ESCAP Pacific Operations Center), and Hilarian Codippily, Robert Watson, Mary Judd, Charles Kenny, and Richard Scheiner (World Bank).

The work on this volume was funded by the World Bank Country Management Unit of Papua New Guinea and Pacific Islands, and the Australian Trust Fund for the Pacific. Many of the authors also contributed their own time and efforts to the report, for which the World Bank is grateful.
